

LIFE'S SEASONS

Spring

Childhood - seeking answers from those close to us. Clearing confusion with simplistic answers to complex questions.

Summer

Teenage seeking answers from friends and peers, answers come from those “like me - like us.”

Autumn

Adulthood struggles with answers to those problems with limited resources and limited opportunities - a time of necessity acceptance and adjustment.

Fall

Older adulthood frustration realizing needs don't match previous answers to pressing survival questions. “Hanging in to hang on.”

Winter

Old age is a time to accept and adjust to undeniable realities. The gathering of distilled truths to sustain and fortify the chill of winter's cold facts.
